Triphylla
Encliandra
Species

We supply both potted plants and well rooted cuttings of all the plants in our shop. We try to maintain stock levels and supply throughout the year but at times stock gets low on some items and plants have to be propagated to order. Generally most cultivars are available within four weeks. Plants in 9cm pots will take around six weeks. At all times the vast majority of plants are available more or less immediately.

Most of our plants are treated with a friendly mycorrhizal fungi root growth promoter, we find this very beneficial and are great believers. The plants establish much quicker, are healthier, more vigorous and flower better with this treatment.

We want you to enjoy these plants as much as we do, and tell us about it.

Hardiness:

H1 indicates plants that must be given winter protection if they are to survive, minimum temperature 7°C. Triphylla's are particularly demanding in this respect, being very frost shy.

H2 indicates plants that are frost shy but will usually be ok in a cold greenhouse in a normal winter. Can be described as Half-Hardy.

H3 indicates that plants in the ground and planted properly will survive normal winter weather with no need to lift or protect. The top growth of these will die back during the winter but new growth from the root ball will be made early in the spring.
